Settling into a new diocesan home

By Kiply Lukan Yaworski

The Cathedral of the Holy Family has seen much activity in recent weeks, as parish and diocesan offices moved into new quarters, and numerous celebrations, meetings and tours have taken place since the doors of the new diocesan home opened Dec. 18.

The new building was the site for packed parish celebrations over the Christmas season; as well as a diocesan event Jan. 1 with special guest Archbishop Albert LeGatt. A Diocesan Pastoral Council meeting was also held at the new cathedral Jan. 10.

Ecumenical guests were welcomed to the new cathedral for the closing celebration of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity Jan. 29; a diocesan Pastoral Care Appreciation evening was held Feb. 10, featuring tours of the building; and a Congress Day for three deaneries was booked Feb. 25.

With the arrival of Lent, key diocesan celebrations – the Rite of Election 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 26 and the Chrism Mass 7 p.m. Monday, April 2 – are on the horizon, and plans are underway for a week of events May 6-13 to mark the official opening and blessing of the cathedral.

Diocesan church will gather at new cathedral for Chrism Mass April 2

By Kiply Lukan Yaworski

The transition to a new diocesan home was marked during celebrations Dec. 31 at St. Paul's Cathedral and Jan. 1 at Holy Family Cathedral in Saskatoon.

Former Saskatoon bishop Archbishop Albert LeGatt of St. Boniface, and Saskatoon Bishop Donald Bolen expressed gratitude for St. Paul Cathedral's historic contribution, both as the first church in Saskatoon, and as the first cathedral, designated when the diocese of Saskatoon was created in 1933 at the height of the Great Depression.

On New Year's Day 2012, the new Cathedral of the Holy Family was declared to be the cathedral for the diocese of Saskatoon. It was also announced that the cathedral hall would be known as "Bishop LeGatt Hall."

LeGatt, who launched the construction project during his time in Saskatoon, said it was a powerful moment to walk into the building and see how the planning that he participated in at the beginning of the construction process has materialized into a beautiful space of gathering. "I was struck by how this has all come about through the work and the generosity of so many people, in fundraising, organizing, and building."

Cathedral rector and liturgy commission director Fr. David Tumback noted the generous hospitality of St. Patrick and Holy Spirit parishes over many years, in hosting diocesan events such as the Chrism Mass and ordinations, when St. Paul's Cathedral could no longer accommodate the growing diocesan family. Two trees, commemorating these contributions by St. Patrick and Holy Spirit parishes, will be planted on the grounds of the new cathedral this spring, he said.

The annual diocesan Chrism Mass, will be held in a cathedral setting for the first time in many years, 7 p.m. Monday, April 2.

The Chrism Mass is a joyful celebration of diocesan unity as the bishop blesses the sacred oils that are taken back to each parish, Tumback noted. "It is a moving and beautiful celebration," he said. The recommitment to priestly service by all the ordained is another powerful moment of the celebration. All are welcome to attend the diocesan Chrism Mass, he said.

Plans are also underway for the Mass of Blessing for the Cathedral of the Holy Family, which will take place on Mother's Day, 2:30 p.m. Sunday, May 13. The blessing will be preceded by a week of events celebrating the occasion in a variety of ways (see list Page 2).

"The Gala committee is planning a week filled with exciting opportunities for our diocese to gather and celebrate the blessing of our new cathedral home," said Gala committee chair Pat Clarke.

"We have events ranging from a fun-filled carnival for families to quiet prayerful times in the new cathedral. These events will showcase the rich diversity of our diocese ... there is a little something for everyone in the course of the week, and we hope to see our diocesan family in attendance."

Students make rosaries for prison ministry

Dianne Anderson of the diocesan Restorative Ministry office (standing at right) recently visited a Grade 8 classroom at Mother Teresa Catholic elementary school in Saskatoon, where she was presented with dozens of rosaries for prison outreach. Students in Grades 7 and 8 made the rosaries as part of a school-wide retreat led by Jon Courchene and Masson Normand of FacetoFace Ministries. During her visit to the school, Anderson told students about her ministry at the Saskatchewan Correctional Centre, which includes healing circles, Returning to Spirit programs, prayer, and a weekly rosary group. Rosaries made by children have special meaning for prisoners who are separated from their own families, Anderson said. The Restorative Ministry office is in great need of more volunteers to assist with Catholic prison ministry. Anyone interested in helping as a Restorative Ministry volunteer is asked to call Dianne Anderson at (306) 659-5845.

Diocesan Congress held in three locations

Bishop Donald Bolen, staff from the Catholic Pastoral Centre, and diocesan leaders will gather with deanery representatives, parish pastoral council representatives, and parishioners from across the diocese for a Congress Day held this year in three centres.

Congress Day with the bishop was held Feb. 25 in Saskatoon for those in the Saskatoon City, Saskatoon Rural and Outlook deaneries.

Those from parishes in the Humboldt and Wadena deaneries are invited to gather for Congress at St. Augustine parish in Humboldt 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, March 10 (register for the free event by March 3 by calling 306-682-2106.)

Eatonia and Kerrobert deaneries will gather for Congress at St. Joseph parish in Kindersley 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, March 24 (register for the free event by March 17 by calling 306-463-4520.)

A day of prayer, discussion and information, Congress was at one time offered only to parish leadership over two or three days in Saskatoon. In recent years, the format of the Congress has changed with a day also offered more broadly to all those

Preparing for Truth and Reconciliation event

A diocesan committee was recently created to coordinate awareness and diocesan participation in the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) process that is underway in Saskatchewan, and which will culminate with a national TRC event June 21-24 at Prairieland Park in Saskatoon. The Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) was established in Canada as part of a 2007 national Indian Residential Schools Agreement to provide an opportunity for those affected by the legacy of the government and church-run schools to share their stories and experiences, and to raise awareness about the schools which for generations removed children from their families, communities and culture. Members of the diocesan committee include: (standing, l-r) St. Joseph pastor Fr. Nestor Gregoire, OMI; Our Lady of Guadalupe priest moderator Fr. Mick Fleming, CSsR; co-director of diocesan Pastoral Services Blake Sittler; Our Lady of Guadalupe elder Gayle Weenie; as well as (sitting, l-r) former Lay Formation coordinator Kathy Hitchings; Justice and Peace Commission chair Carol Zubiak; and executive director for the Office of Treaty Commissioner Harry Lafond. (Missing from the photo is Parish Life Director Mary Jacobi of Our Lady of Guadalupe parish.) For more info on the TRC and the ongoing impact of residential schools see: www.trc.ca interested in attending – while also taking the event beyond Saskatoon to make it easier for parishioners from every area of the diocese to attend.

This year's Congress includes an experience of Small Christian Community faith sharing as an introduction to the upcoming Year of Faith; a focus on marriage trends and issues in the diocese; a report about the 2011 Bishop's Annual Appeal (which raised $1.42 million); and information about residential schools in Canada, and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission national event in Saskatoon from June 21-24. The Congress day ends with celebration of the Eucharist with Bishop Don Bolen. - KLY

The diocesan Resource Library has opened its doors in a bright and spacious new location on the second floor of the Cathedral of the Holy Family, 123 Nelson Road, Saskatoon (access the building from Attridge Drive at Forestry Farm Park Drive, or from Nelson Road, just north of St. Joseph High School).

Hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday to Thursday. For more info contact Norlayne Scott-Gaare at 659-5853 or toll free: 1-877-661-5005, Ext. 853 or e-mail: library@saskatoonrcdiocese.com Check the library catalogue online at www.saskatoonrcdiocese.com

Volunteer coordinates justice and peace office

Carol Zubiak of St. Patrick parish has expanded her long-time involvement in justice issues to take on coordination of the diocesan office of Justice and Peace on a volunteer basis, taking over from Tony Haynes, who stepped down last year because of health issues.

Zubiak chairs the diocesan Justice and Peace Commission, whose members bring a wide range of experience and involvements to the discussion and planning of justice initiatives. "We continue to discuss how the diocese and our parish communities can grow in awareness and understanding of issues, and how we can support what people are already doing," she says.

Planning is again underway for the annual justice and peace Way of the Cross on Good Friday. Beginning at the courthouse on Spadina Crescent 10 a.m. April 6, the ecumenical event focuses on suffering and injustice in our world in the context of prayer and reflections on Christ's passion. There will be a few changes to this year's route through the streets of Saskatoon, notes Zubiak.

She is also actively involved in the diocesan committee that has been established by Bishop Donald Bolen to discuss involvement in the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) national event to be held June 21-24 at Prairieland Park in Saskatoon.

The TRC is travelling across the country, gathering the stories of those who have been affected by the Indian Residential School system either directly or indirectly. The TRC goal is to facilitate healing, reconciliation and understanding. Christian churches are among those invited to participate. This will include providing practical help with the logistics involved in staging the large gathering, as well as standing in solidarity with those on a journey of healing, Zubiak says. All Canadians are called to be involved in the TRC process, to listen, to grow in awareness, and find ways to move forward together, she notes.

"And beyond this single event, we are also being invited to think about what reconciliation is, what it really means to build bridges of understanding, and how we are called as people of faith to respond to our sisters and brothers who are suffering."

Carol Zubiak is available through the Catholic Pastoral Centre. To reach her, leave a message at (306) 659-5815 or toll free: 1-877-661-5005. - KLY

Aboriginal Lay Formation

Vivian Whitehawk coordinates the Aboriginal Catholic stream of the diocese of Saskatoon's Lay Formation program. She is busy connecting with parishes and communities in the dioceses of Saskatoon, Prince Albert and Keewatin-Le Pas to get the word out about the tri-diocesan program, in which participants explore their Catholic faith in the context of Aboriginal culture and traditions. Applications are now being accepted for September 2012. Held in Saskatoon one weekend a month from September to June over two years, Lay Formation offers learning, prayer and Christian community through three streams: Aboriginal, Diocesan and Eparchial. For information on Lay Formation call 242-1500 or toll free: 1-877-661-5005.

New diocesan Office of Migration will provide support for refugee sponsorship, welcoming newcomers

By Kiply Lukan Yaworski

Years of volunteer work assisting with the diocese of Saskatoon's refugee sponsorship agreement has now been formalized as a diocesan office.

Long-time volunteer Ellen Erickson recently began working part time from an office established at the Catholic Pastoral Centre at the Cathedral of the Holy Family, marking the official creation of a new Office of Migration.

For many years Erickson worked alongside the late Father Paul Donlevy to answer the urgent needs of refugees in peril: people displaced and often in danger, struggling to get to safety and freedom.

"I'm going to be doing the same thing here that I've done in the past, but I'm now going to have this support – tech support, clerical support, communications," she said of the creation of the office at the Catholic Centre. "I have always been very connected with refugees, and with refugee advocacy groups in Saskatoon, but as a volunteer I did not have the visibility and the connections with parishes and the diocese that I will now have."

The Roman Catholic Diocese of Saskatoon is a government-recognized Sponsorship Agreement Holder. "This agreement has been in place for over 30 years," she said. "It was Fr. Paul who first got the diocese into this agreement, in order to sponsor Vietnamese boat people."

Refugees -- people who have fled their own country because of a threat or danger of some kind -- may face a long and arduous process before they are settled. Often there are forms, procedures and "red tape" that Erickson will help navigate.

"People should know that I have a waiting list of Saskatoon residents who want help sponsoring friends and relatives who are refugees in asylum countries around the world," she said. "I have a list and I am looking to link each one of these cases to a constituent group."

A constituent group could be a parish, a school, a religious order, or any group that comes together to help, Erickson explained. The constituent group is asked to "walk the walk" with the family as they go through the process. "Basically we are asking you to be this person's best friend when they get here; maybe use networks to help find a job, help them make connections."

Other types of refugee sponsorship include Joint Assisted Sponsorship in which the federal government pays the full cost of the sponsorship, but the constituent groups provide settlement services. Often this involves special needs facing a refugee family. For instance, one case she is working on involves a young couple, both of whom are deaf; another concerns a family with two children who are developmentally delayed.

Full sponsorship is another option, in which the constituent group takes full responsibility for financial and settlement services. Erickson can provide help navigating through the process and the paperwork.

Another important element of Migration Ministry is advocacy, and raising grassroots awareness of the dire need faced by refugees, who are not criminals or terrorists, but people in extreme situations of fear and danger, said Erickson, describing an increasing climate of suspicion and xenophobia.

The vision for the new office is that eventually it would deal with all migration issues, Erickson said. "It would be about welcoming people into our community, people who are new to our country, whether they are here on a permanent basis or a temporary basis; refugees, immigrants, students." - KLY

Erickson can be reached at the Catholic Pastoral Centre at 659-5842; or by e-mail: migration@saskatoonrcdiocese.com

Diocesan financial office staff

Financial Administrator Michele Wright (left) recently welcomed Kevin Bentler of Our Lady of Lourdes parish and Denesta Lambert of St. Mary's parish to the diocesan financial office. The two new accountants are among staff working at the Catholic Pastoral Centre on the second floor of the Cathedral of the Holy Family, serving 98 parishes across the Roman Catholic Diocese of Saskatoon.

Development and Peace presents Share Lent information

By Andréa Ledding

Parish representatives for Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace (CCODP) met at the new Holy Family Cathedral and Catholic Pastoral Centre Feb. 4 to share information about the upcoming "Share Lent" campaign: "Help a just world take root." A similar meeting was held Feb. 5 at St. Augustine parish in Humboldt.

CCODP has a strong Internet presence with their website www.devop.org as well as Twitter and Facebook accounts, and options to fundraise online. One goal of the group's new campaign is ecologically based, partnering with local farmers in the global South through environmentally sound practice.

New in Share Lent 2012 is the "Give It Up" campaign, where participants can go to the website and create their own fundraising page, committing to action that will positively impact the environment. (For example: driving less, being mindful of water consumption, recycling, buying local organic/fairtrade food only.) Users choose the length and nature of a chosen action and start a personal fundraising page.

"You give something up and invite others to donate to your pot," explained Armella Sonntag, Saskatchewan's regional CCODP co-coordinator. "It's changing your own lifestyle to impact locally and globally cool the earth by supporting small scale farmers. There's so much good that can be done."

Sonntag has begun a personal fundraising campaign focused on reducing plastic shopping bags, and describes it as a way to engage and inform friends and family who may or may not be Catholic, but are still supportive and concerned about a just and environmentally friendly world.

The group also discussed the liturgical symbols of solidarity, materials and scripture passages in the context of climate change, environment and economy, the Zambia land alliance, the spirituality of fundraising, and the importance of sharing joyful images of Share Lent.

"People learn from Development and Peace," said Sonntag. "It's a model that creates sustainable environment and economy, with sustainable human practices."

Fill These Hearts event April 28 will strive to introduce Theology of the Body to a wider ecumenical audience

By Anne-Marie Hughes

Faith leaders and pastors were among those to gather for a preview event highlighting an upcoming Saskatoon presentation of "Fill These Hearts" April 28, which will feature Theology of the Body speaker Christopher West and musicians Mike Mangione and the Union.

The recent preview event at Circle Drive Alliance Church included questions with West via the Internet.

"We knew using technology like this was key to introducing Christopher West to a interdenominational audience who may have never heard of him as a speaker before," said James Riley, director of communications at St. Therese Institute of Faith and Mission, which is co-sponsoring the April 28 evening event which will be held at Circle Drive Alliance Church.

"We wanted to broaden the scope," said Jerry Kristian, Director of St. Therese explaining why "Fill

These Hearts" will be held at Circle Drive Alliance rather than at St Therese in Bruno, as it was last year. "We have partnered with One More Soul Canada to help us spearhead this event and bring in participation from other denominations"

Set for 7 p.m. Saturday, April 28, in Saskatoon, "Fill These Hearts" opens a week-long conference with Christopher West at St. Therese in Bruno, April 27 - May 3.

"Fill These Hearts" is billed as an evening of beauty and reflection on the Theology of the Body. Mike Mangione and his band The Union provide the musical backdrop for exploring the themes of the evening.

Jim Anderson, director of faith formation at St. Therese School of Faith and Mission said he was excited to introduce Christopher West to the broader Christian community. "He has done over a thousand lectures in over 200 cities and states, in eight countries most recently in Manilla in the Philippines and Madrid for World Youth Day. He has written and number of books and teaches both graduate and undergraduate courses."

West is known for introducing John Paul II's Theology of the Body, combining scripture and theology with a media-savvy communication style that includes references to rock lyrics and popular culture, and using direct language concerning sexuality.

When asked about the event having a more interdenominational format that included evangelical Christians who may not be familiar with terms used in the Catholic faith, West said material would be presented drawing on what Christian faithful have in common.

Representatives of several Saskatoon Catholic parishes attended the meeting; along with ministers from Circle Drive Alliance and Forest Grove Community Church; Woman's Journey of Faith founder Jodi Kozan; and members of One More Soul.

40 Hours for Life 2012

A pro-life vigil will again be held in Saskatoon, an hour a day for 40 days of Lent, with participants walking and praying for an end to abortion. The event takes place every day until Palm Sunday, from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in front of Saskatoon City Hospital on Queen Street. Signs are provided. Groups and individuals are encouraged to sign up for a particular day or the same day each week by e-mailing Denise Hounjet-Roth at: campaignlifecoalitionsask@gmail.com Differences that Unite: A 21st century exploration of Baptism, Eucharist, and Ministry – A five-week Lenten ecumenical series exploring the doctrinal consensus and convergence on key issues of church life and practice will be held 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays from Feb. 27 to March 26 at Mayfair United Church, 902-33rd Street West, Saskatoon. Nick Jesson and Rev. Amanda Currie will explore the significant agreement reached between the churches in the past half century and look to the future. Together with an ecumenical panel, they will discover the faith that we share and the practices and beliefs held in common, as well as seek to understand the differences that make each church tradition unique. (This year marks the 30th anniversary of the World Council of Churches' statement on Baptism, Eucharist, and Ministry (BEM), available online at <http://oikoumene.org/?id=2638>) There is no fee for the Lenten series, but donations to support the ministry of the Prairie Centre for Ecumenism are welcome. For information, contact Rev. Amanda Currie at (306) 242-0525.

Forgiveness - McClure United Church and Holy Spirit parish, in accordance with their Covenant, hold yearly study evenings. This year Sr. Teresita Kambeitz, OSU, will facilitate two evenings on forgiveness. The first session 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 27 'Take Time to Forgive,' will draw on scripture, stories and visuals to explore the five steps in the process of forgiveness and also outline five "styles" of forgiveness. The second session 7 p.m. Monday, March 26 is 'Gladden My Heart, O Lord.' A common feeling in our adult years is a vague sense of regret for things done or not done in one's earlier life. This session will offer ways to deal with self-forgiveness and to experience "gladness of heart" (Psalm 86:4). Both sessions will be held at Holy Spirit parish, 114 Kingsmere Place. All are welcome to attend.

Christopher Leadership ten-week course in effective speaking begins Tuesday, Feb. 28. For more information, or to register, call 955-8980, or check the website: www.clcsaskatoon.com

Our Lady of Guadalupe parish event

An Utreya retreat was recently held at Our Lady of Guadalupe parish, as a follow-up to a Cursillo faith enrichment event hosted by the Saskatoon parish this summer.

The Saskatoon parish, which serves First Nations, Metis, Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people in the heart of the city, recently received a letter from Bishop Don Bolen approving their request to begin the search for a church building of their own. The parish offices are presently located at Guadalupe House on Avenue J, with Sunday Eucharist held each week at 1 p.m. at St. Mary parish on Avenue O.

"Called to the Single Life" retreat will be held April 27-28

By Myron Rogal

Called to the Single Life 2012 annual retreat will be held April 27-28 at Queen's House of Retreats in Saskatoon.

"To serve God and neighbour in exemplary fashion" (CCC #1658) is the theme. In scripture, St. Paul speaks to us of serving God with an undivided and single heart. Any vocation calls us to find purpose and meaning in the vocation we are called to.

If you are currently living the single life with a burning desire to live this life more fully, come spend part of a weekend in retreat to reflect on how the Lord is calling you as a single person to serve God.

This year's retreat offers testimonies and focuses on two questions. Firstly what is the single life? Secondly how am I called to live out this state of life for a season or a lifetime?

The weekend will provide opportunities for Eucharist, prayer, reflection and sharing, with a goal of deepening your understanding of the Lord's call in your own life.

Wade St. Onge will break open this year's theme unravelling the foundations of single life in conjunction with other guest speakers.

For more information or to register contact Myron at the diocesan Vocations Office at 306-659-5841, or e-mail him at: vocations@saskatoonrcdiocese.com For a detailed outline of the retreat, visit saskatoonrcdiocese.com and check out the calendar of events. The event is also on Facebook at "Single Life Retreat: The Single Heart."

Knights focus on evangelization and hope

By Ed Gibney, State Deputy

This year's international theme for the Knights of Columbus is taken from Pope John Paul II's apostolic exhortation Ecclesia in America: "So That the World May Know New Hope."

This theme speaks of the duty of all Knights and indeed all Catholics, to spread the hope that is ours in our faith, through evangelization. It reminds us that the "New Evangelization" is an obligation of love; that it is everyone's duty to show to the world the hope that comes from the unity, and solidarity experienced in a communal encounter with the living Jesus Christ. We are called to re-dedicate ourselves to serve God, our neighbours, parishes and communities, and with the spiritual guidance of the heads of our Church, we will rekindle the flame of faith in our own lives and in those around us.

This theme reminds us that the councils of the Knights of Columbus must work at developing stronger ties to parishes and especially to the council chaplain and/or parish priest.

Knights must be ready to evangelize to their communities, by serving their communities and showing the goodness of the teachings of Christ.

There are a number of upcoming dates that are important to the Knights of Columbus:

- April 20 to 22 - The Saskatchewan State Council 90th Annual Convention will be held in Regina.
- May 10 - The March for Life will be held on the grounds of the Saskatchewan Legislature in Regina.
- May 6 to 13 - Knights will assist in the Gala Opening Week events surrounding the formal blessing of the Cathedral of the Holy Family in Saskatoon.
- Aug. 5-10 - The 130th Annual International Convention of the Knights of Columbus will be held in Anaheim, California, in conjunction with a Marian Devotion to our Lady of Guadalupe.

Transitions Alumni Event:

Come experience a deeper intimacy with God!

Fr. Kevin McGee will lead an introduction to the Christian contemplative tradition through centering prayer. There will be opportunity to practice during the three-hour session, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 31. To register, call Elan at 659-5839.

Hurting from separation or divorce?

Transitions is an 11-week support program for anyone going through the painful experience of separation or divorce. You are not alone! Transition sessions will be held at the Catholic Pastoral Centre on the second floor of the Cathedral of the Holy Family, 123 Nelson Road, Saskatoon, beginning Thursday, April 12, 2012 with gatherings held Mondays for the following 10 weeks. For more information or to register, call Elan at 659-8539.
